Hauntings:
Dispelling the Ghosts
Who Run Our Lives

Our ancestors believed in ghosts, and perhaps they were not far off the mark. So much of daily life is driven by invisible psychic forces, archaic agendas, and imperious admonitions and prohibitions, all the more powerful because they operate unconsciously.

What are the features of such “hauntings,” and how might we gain some further foothold on a more conscious conduct of life?

2 CEUs also available for psychologists, counselors and social workers.

Saturday workshop
9:30 am – 3:30 pm
Registration begins at 9:00 am

Literary and case studies will illustrate the presence of “hauntings” in people’s lives. Questions and exercises designed to elicit insight into one’s own haunting will be provided by Dr. Hollis.

Please bring a notepad and pen to reflect on the invisible powers that govern your daily life.

5 CEUs also available for psychologists, counselors and social workers.

Lunch on your own.
